DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to because reference number 32 isn't shown in the drawings. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jalbert.

Jalbert discloses in figures 1-6 a shoe inner sole that anticipates a custom made foot orthosis for engagement inside of a footwear comprising a thermoformed flexible top layer 12, made of a first moldable synthetic rubber material (polyurethane), a thermoformed flexible reinforcement core layer 14, made of a moldable core material (polyethylene) that is made of a more rigid material than the top layer and a bottom layer 16 made of a second moldable synthetic rubber material (polyurethane). The moldable core material is made of a plastic (polyethylene).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jalbert in view of Mardix.

Jalbert discloses in figures 1-6 a shoe inner sole that anticipates a custom made foot orthosis, substantially as claimed. However, Jalbert doesn't disclose the moldable synthetic rubber materials being made of a mixture of ethylene, vinyl and acetate. Mardix teaches in figure 1 a custom insole comprising a moldable synthetic rubber material made of a mixture of ethylene, vinyl and acetate (col. 2, lines 50-53). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time that the invention was made that the moldable synthetic rubber materials disclosed by Jalbert could be fabricated of EVA as taught by Mardix because it is a custom forming material that is supportive and durable.

Claims 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jalbert in view of Goldman.

Jalbert discloses in figures 1-6 a shoe inner sole that anticipates a custom made foot orthosis, substantially as claimed. However, Jalbert doesn't disclose an additional layer made of a moldable synthetic rubber material, or a heel cushion layer. Goldman teaches in figure 3 a feedback sensor device comprising an additional layer 66, made of a moldable synthetic rubber material and a thermoformed heel cushion layer 78. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time that the invention was made that the additional layer and the heel cushion layer as taught by Goldman could be incorporated into the device disclosed by Jalbert in order to use the additional layer and the heel cushion layer to provide additional support to the bottom of the user's foot.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 17 and 20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 1-13 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. No additional prior art was cited in this office action.
